“ I met Carol on the internet some 21 years ago--we became friends and spent a lot of time chatting and playing games on the internet, and later just talking on the phone. We met her and her husband Cal in Las Vegas one year and at one time we visited her in Grove and she visited us in California. Carol's health had not been good these past years but I had hoped her rehab in Missouri and later in Grove would be of help to her. Her passing was so shockingly unexpected (as was her husband's a month earlier) and I will miss her and our chats so very much. She was always interested in our family's various goings on and I felt fortunate to have her as a friend I could confide in when necessary or if I needed advice for something. Not having her here leaves a terrible void in my heart and my life and she will be missed more than ever. Both I and my wife Linda send our deepest sympathy to her sons John and Jim and their extended families as well, I consider myself real fortunate to have met and known such a wonderful caring woman over these past two decades. She will be deeply missed. JACK (a/k/a/ JAYCEE) and LINDA CRAIG, El Cajon, CA.
