“ Where do I begin , Sherrie one of the most intelligent, stubborn, classy ladies I have ever met, I had only known her a short time she was my boss, but, more a friend, we had a lot of fun with "Her Projects " making her house home. One thing I would like her kids to know you two were her greatest joy, very proud of the people you became. And of course Josh and Lucas simply adored them so proud of the direction they were going. It's hard to walk in the house expecting to hear her sweet good mornings, I'll treasure our friendship forever, and then of course her baby Thunder the love of her life seems so lost but, Terry and myself had already fallen in love with him and are trying our best to make his time the best we can until he and her are reunited. I will miss our fake fights we had a blast, flea market trips where everything she bought was a true treasure. I know one thing for sure she was happy to have made it to Grove Oklahoma to be with the man she adored. FLY HIGH until we meet again.

Sherry was the glamorous, polite, considerate person I have ever met. She always put others first before her own needs. She will be greatly missed, by all but mostly by Terry and Thunder
